It Was Already Like That

It was already like that.

Before you looked.
Before you noticed.

Before you paused long enough to see it.

Nothing formed in that moment.

Nothing arrived.

You thought it appeared.

Like it came into place for you.

But it didn’t.

It was there
the whole time.

You just met it there.